Surface Indications

What a miner would very properly term "surface indications" of what is beneath, are the Pimples, Sties, Sore Eyes, Boils, and Cutaneous Eruptions with which people are annoyed in spring and early summer. The effete matter accumulated during the winter months, now makes its presence felt, through Nature's endeavors to expel it from the system. While it remains, it is a poison that festers in the blood and may develop into Scrofula. This condition causes derangement of the digestive and assimilatory organs, with a feeling of enervation, languor, and weariness—often lightly spoken of as "only spring fever." These are evidences that Nature is not able, unaided, to throw off the corrupt atoms which weaken the vital forces. To regain health, Nature must be aided by a thorough blood-purifying medicine; and nothing else is so effective as which is sufficiently powerful to expel from the system even the taint of Hereditary Scrofula.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

The medical profession indorse AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and many attestations of the cures effected by it come from all parts of the world. It is, in the language of the Hon. Francis Jewett, ex-State Senator of Massachusetts and ex-Mayor of Lowell, "the only preparation that does real, lasting good."

A SONG FROM THE SUDS.

[Louisa M. Alcott.]

Then of my tub I merrily sing,
While the white foam rises high;
I sturdily wash and rinse and wring,
And fasten the clothes to dry.
Then out in the free, fresh air they swing,
Under the summer sky.

I wish I could wash from our hearts and souls
The stains of the week away;
And let water and air, by their magic, make Ourselves as pure as they;
Then on the earth would be joy indeed,
A glorious washing day.

Along the path of a useful life
Will the heart's ease ever bloom;
The busy mind has no time to think
Of sorrow, or care, or gloom;
And anxious thoughts may be swept away,
As we busily wield the broom.

I am glad a task to me is given
To labor at day by day;
For it brings me health and strength and hope,
And I cheerfully learn to say,
"Head you may think, heart you may feel,
But hand, you shall work alway."

Inadequate Nourishment.

[New York Commercial Advertiser.]

It is surprising that so many good people who live in the midst of abundance pass through life with inadequately nourished bodies. They do not eat sufficient food and their energies are exhausted in consequence. The mind is inert and the body is languid. The reason of this lack of appetite is not far to seek. The palate has become weary of the eternal sameness of the average dinner. The monotonous joint of beef or mutton, varied occasionally by poultry, becomes almost revolting, and is only eaten to keep body and soul together.

It is not right, of course, to live to eat, but neither can the best be gotten out of life where one only eats to live. The golden mean in this respect is what should be sought. This may best be found by adding variety to the bill of fare. There are an endless number of so-called "made dishes" that are wholesome and appetizing. Against them an ignorant prejudice is widely cherished, but they are admirably adapted nevertheless to stimulate and refresh the palate which has lost its zest for the more substantial food upon which the changes have been rung in a miserable monotone for ages.

Some Fallacies Corrected.

[Lieut. Schwatka in New York Times.]

These freezings of the nose and cheeks are very common affairs, occurring over a dozen times a day in very low temperatures, and especially if there be any wind blowing in the face. The Esquimaux cure these slight frost bites by applying the hand, warm from the reindeer mitten, directly to the spot. They know nothing of rubbing frost bites with snow, so extolled in our own cold climates, and I doubt its efficacy myself in those extremely low Arctic temperatures, when the snow is like sand if loose, and like granite rock if in mass.

Another fallacious idea exploded by my Esquimaux, at least to a great extent, was the use of snow to quench thirst, which every Arctic writer has been so unanimous in condemning as hurtful. My Esquimaux used it at all temperatures to alleviate their thirst, first breathing on the piece of snow a few times before putting it in the mouth. I have often seen Esquimau boys place a steel snow knife to their tongue and let it freeze fast, and then swing it backward and forward until it fell, and try and make it stick upright in the snow.

Brain-Work on the Stage.

[Chicago News.]

A friend said to Miss Minnie Maddern: "You are pale and thin; your work is killing you." Miss Maddern laughed heartily. "It is my honest opinion," said she, "that the profession of the stage is ordinarily easy and pleasant. We have to study, and oftentimes we have to study very hard, but invariably the ill effects of the brain-work we have to do are offset by the physical exercise we are compelled to take every night on the stage. We have long hours for sleep, and, as a class, we fare better than the average people in other professions. There are growlers in every profession, and it is natural for human beings to consider themselves overworked and abused. People are prone to complain, and the actor growls against his life on about the same principle that the average farmer growls because it rains to-day and shines to-morrow."

Plants Used by Man.

[Chicago Times.]

It is stated that the number of plants used by man at the present time does not exceed 3,000. Of these about 2,500 are cultivated in America. The varieties used for food do not exceed 600. Of edible fruits and seeds there are 100 classed as vegetables, 100 as roots and bulbs, 50 varieties of grain, about 20 of which produce sugar and syrup. In addition to this perhaps 30 kinds will yield oil, and 6 kinds wine. The number of medicine-supply plants is nearly double that of the fruit-yielding, amounting to 1,140, about 300 of which are employed in the various branches of industry. Of the latter, 76 furnish dye stuffs, 8 wax, 16 salt, and more than 40 supply food for cattle. There are no fewer than 250 kinds of poisonous plants cultivated, among which are only 66 of a narcotic sort, the remainder being classed as deadly poisons.

Nailing a Sunbeam.

[Philadelphia Call.]

I once heard of a bright-eyed, merry little boy who lived in an old house in a dark, narrow street. One day, after many months of darkness, the sun shone into his room—not a full, radiant flood of sunshine, such as comes into our windows day by day, but a little narrow beam of light, quivering and dancing on the bare wall. The child was filled with delight, and, putting his little hand on the sunbeam, he cried, "Run quick, mamma! bring a hammer and a nail. I'll hold it while you nail it, so we can keep it always."

An Astonished Peasant.

[Mitzetheilt.]

In the Bernese Oberland a parrot one day made its escape and perched on the rain trough of a farm-house in the neighborhood. The farmer, who had probably never been out of his native village, brought a ladder to capture the strange animal. When he had reached the top and was reaching out his hand, the parrot called out: "What do you want? What do you want?" The astonished peasant at once took off his cap and said: "O, I beg your pardon, I thought you were a bird!"

Cement from Rice.

A cement which is in very general use in China and Japan is made from rice. The flour of rice, mixed with water and simmered over a fire, produces a delicate and durable cement which answers all the purposes of common paste.

It is said that 55 per cent. of all persons dying in Paris are buried at public expense.

PERSONAL AND IMPERSONAL.

—Cardinal Newman, of England, is still preaching, in spite of his eighty-one years and enfeebled health.

—When William H. Vanderbilt was a young man he both chewed tobacco and smoked. He has not used the weed in any form for thirty years.—N. Y. Sun.

—Dr. Tanner, the faster, is a resident of Dona Ana County, N. M., where he is devoting himself to the progagation of a new religion, founded on a new Bible, revealed to a new prophet.—St. Louis Globe.

—Ten thousand black foxes were killed to furnish the necessary pieces for Mrs. Bonanza Mackey's seventeen thousand dollar fur cloak, which is claimed to be finer than the one that the Duchess of Edinburgh inherited from her mother, the Empress of Russia.

—The Empress of Austria would cut no mean figure in a go-as-you-please walking-match. One day recently she left the Santa Cecilia, Lord Alfred Paget's steam yacht at Deal, and walked thence to Dover. On arriving at Dover, she went by train to Folkestone, walked back, and then rejoined the yacht, having walked no less than eighteen miles during the day.—Chicago Tribune.

—A complimentary dinner was recently given to Mr. Benjamin Apthorp Gould by prominent citizens of Boston including Prof. Agassiz, T. B. Aldrich, Francis Parkman, President Eliot, Profs. Lane, Norton, Horsford, Lovering and Pickering, Robert C. Winthrop, Oliver Wendell Holmes, James Freeman Clarke, T. W. Higginson, Leverett Saltonstall, and others. Mr. Gould has returned home from fifteen years of residence and travel in South America.—Boston Journal.

—Mrs. George W. Childs is said to have the finest collection of table china in the country. Her dinner-plates include Sevres, Worcester, Derby, Dresden, Minton and Copelands; no two as a rule are alike, and each is a gem. Many of her plates have cost several hundred dollars a dozen. She gives orders to people of experience to be on the lookout for very rare specimens. It is said that for a dinner of twenty persons Mrs. Childs can, without any difficulty, set a table the decorations of which alone will represent an expenditure of thirty thousand or forty thousand dollars.—N. Y. Mail.

—The London Standard says in connection with Miss Warner's death: "It is probable that next only to 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' 'The Wide, Wide, World' has had a larger circulation in England than any book by an American writer. It had the advantage of being the first book for girls imported across the Atlantic. It has had many successors, some of higher literary power and of greater interest—for in their department, and in the department only of literature, American authoresses are distinctly ahead of our own—but none of them has obtained anything like the wide popularity which greeted 'The Wide, Wide World,' the 'Lamplighter' and 'Queechy.'"

"A LITTLE NONSENSE."

—Small Gertrude (five years old)—"Mamma, I quite agree with you." Mamma—"Why, my child, what does agree mean?" S. G.—"When two persons think alike." Mamma—"What does disagree mean?" S. G.—"When one person thinks alike."—Life.

—"An Illinois junk-dealer recently bought a load of scrap-iron which contained a pocketbook with one thousand six hundred dollars in it for a song," says an exchange. If this is the case he had better abandon the scrap-iron business and adopt vocalism for a profession.—N. Y. Graphic.

—Colonel Jim Bowie's famous dagger, which served him in many a combat and was the pattern of subsequent "bowie knives," is on exhibition at New Orleans. It is a double-edged weapon, with a horn handle and a curved blade fifteen inches long and an inch and a half wide at the hilt.—N. O. Picayune.

—He writes:

Last night I left my heart with you,
A captive to your winning grace;
As you have one that's kind and true,
Pray send me yours to take its place.

She answers:

If you have left your heart with me,
I can't say I regret it;
And as for mine—well, let me see!—
Call round to-night and get it.

—Boston Courier.

—"Have another piece of cake," said Johnny's mother to a female friend who was taking dinner with her. "No, don't you do it," put in Johnny; "it'll make you sick." "Why, Johnny, ain't you ashamed of yourself to talk that way?" "Well, mother, that's what you always tell me when I want another piece, and I bet I can get away with four times as much as Mrs. Green can."—Kentucky State Journal.

—"Pa, what do people mean when they say anything is a drug in the market?" asked young Johnny McSwilligen of his pa. "They mean, my son, that the articles are plentiful and can be bought cheap. "But drugs can't be bought cheap," persisted the boy. "That's so," said the father, tapping his boy on the shoulder, "a wonderful future is before you. I should not be surprised if you became a newspaper paragraphist."—Oil City Derrick.

—"You are doing nicely," said the doctor encouragingly to an old darky patient: "I will call again to-morrow and will leave you this prescription now to save you from pain in the interim." Then he went out. "Da's er 'scription dat de doctah lef'," said the patient feebly to his wife, "an' I wan's yo' ter go to de drug sto' an' git it filled. Tell de drug sto' man dat it's fo' my interim, an' be sho' an' ax him ef Ise ter take it eternally, or jess rub it on the outside, an' ef so wha'."—N. Y. Times.

—A student, undergoing examination in the principles of mechanics, was asked, "Why will not a pin stand on its point?" He returned the following answer: In the first place a point is defined by Euclid as that which hath no parts and no magnitude, and how can a pin stand on that which hath no parts and no magnitude? In the second place, a pin will not stand on its head, much less, therefore, will it stand on its point. Thirdly and lastly, it will if you stick it in hard enough.—N. Y. Independent.

EDISON, THE INVENTOR.

Alleged Misfortunes of the Electric King—Not a Business Man.

[Cor. Charleston News and Courier.]

Although the system of lighting New York houses with the incandescent electric light has made great strides during the last three years, and although we now have only one whole district of nearly a square mile partially lighted by the Edison system, it can not be said that the business has been a bonanza for any one concerned, not even Edison himself. It has been generally supposed, however, that the wizard of Menlo park had so managed things as to derive considerable personal profit out of his patents. Consequently I was somewhat surprised to learn upon good authority that Edison is now far from a rich man, and has very little authority even in the company of which he is supposed to be the head. Like all inventors he believed that there were millions in his patents, and although he got enough ready money out of the company to enable him to live comfortably he took most of his pay in stock.

Now, while the Edison company has done a tremendous amount of work in making the lamps, laying mains, and introducing its system, the expenses have been enormous. It is a new business, and every step was more or less of an experiment; much work had to be done over two or three times, and many costly blunders were made. The result has been that the stockholders have not seen much money in the shape of dividends, and Edison, relying largely upon his stock for reward, has practically nothing. Besides, there has been a good deal of disappointment in the company over this state of things and an attempt was made nearly six months ago to turn Edison out, at least, to render his position of no authority. It was claimed that he was no business man, which is probably true, and that the company could get on better without him, which is probably untrue. For a time Edison succeeded in beating his opponents. I hear now, however, that they are getting the upper hand, and that Edison's voice in the management of the concern which bears his name is seldom heard.

Out of the quadruplex apparatus for sending four messages along one wire at the same time Edison made the money with which he began his electric light experiments. He was sufficiently well known in 1877 to attract the attention of capitalists to his schemes, and the stock of the Edison Electric Light company, after the tremendous newspaper advertising he got in 1878, rose to fabulous prices. I remember that early in 1879 Edison's stock was quoted at $2,000 for each $100 share. If Edison had not had faith in his own scheme, he might have sold out then and have been a rich man to-day. He kept his stock, and worked night and day in the service of the company. Like most new things, there were difficulties, delays and expenses of which no one dreamed. "It took him a year more than he calculated to get his system in operation, and the cost was double the estimates. It had been announced that the new light would cost far less than gas. As a matter of fact it costs far more, and it was not long after the company got its works in operation that the stock fell in value and Edison found himself with a great deal of fame to show for his eight years' work, but with very little money.

Since the first station was opened, two years ago this coming summer, very little money had been made, and the work of extending the business had been slow. In the way of putting in isolated plants some money had been made, but not by Edison personally. Of late matters have gone from bad to worse, and I am sorry to say that the famous inventor shows signs of being bitterly disappointed. He is no business man, and spends more money on experiments than would suffice to support five ordinary families; hence his present financial depression. Fortunately he is likely at any moment to bring forth something new, and there are always plenty of men ready to put money into his schemes. He is now living quietly in a little flat off Broadway in Eighteenth street, for which he pays $1,000 a year, and working hard at a device for telegraphing between a moving train and stations along the line. There is already one company with a similar project and an apparatus for achieving this result, but Edison thinks he can do better.

The Lottery Craze in Cuba.

[Havana Cor. Inter Ocean.]

Here there is scarcely a stratum of society to be found that is not directly interested in the sale or the purchase of Havana lottery tickets. Men, women, and children wander the streets day and night singing out the numbers which they have for sale. As the day for a drawing approaches everybody is on the qui vive, the ticket venders being frantic to effect sales, and the rest of the population to purchase tickets in the hope of obtaining some lucky number. You will even see occasionally a paralytic, or a man who has been crippled through some accident, sitting by the wayside and crying his numbers.

At nearly every street corner and at frequent intervals between streets you will encounter stands where these tickets are sold by agents on a larger scale. Everybody patronizes these stands or the street venders, from the negro slave who hopes to draw enough money to purchase his freedom to the rich young Cuban swell; from the thieving ragmuffin on the street to the nun or padre of the Holy Catholic church.

Arabs' Horseshoes.

[Exchange.]

An English army office is authority for the statement that the Arabs, who ride their horses over every rocky and stony ground, most frequently shoe their horses with shoes covering the whole of the sole; but this form is not suitable to a wet soil or a stiff, clayey country.

Tit for Tat.

[Thackeray.]

The world is a looking-glass, and gives back to every man the reflection of his own face. Frown at it, and it will in turn look surly upon you; laugh at it and with it, and it is a jolly, kind companion.

A show of respect never fails to beget respect.

FRUIT GROWERS.

The Fruit Growers' Convention, which recently convened in San Francisco, decided to take steps to organize a corporation of Fruit Growers, for the protection of the mutual interests of horticulturists and the disposal of their produce. In speaking on the subject, Chancellor Harston of Napa favored the formation of such a corporation. He said: "The great multitude of the growers must depend upon others for the sale of their fruit in the East, and since that is so they should depend on themselves. The fruit-growers are to be stock-holders, and the latter elect the directors of the proposed corporation. The growers certainly have the power to select good, reliable men, and no one will claim that that cannot be done from the horticulturists of California. The great question seems to be, 'Shall the directors have jurisdiction outside the State?' And here comes up the issue that every man likes to have the sale of his own fruit. But no individual can ascertain so much of value and interest to the growers as these directors who will canvass the East, and learn everything that can be of advantage to the shippers. The best results can be accomplished by concerted co-operative action. If only fruit-growers are put on the directory, the system proposed would succeed." The capital stock of the proposed organization will be $250,000, divided into as many shares of $1 each.

THERE is considerable excitement in Guerneville over the confession of a man named Ethridge, who says he is the author of the numerous incendiary fires which have taken place in that town during the past few years. The self-confessed incendiary is in the last stages of consumption, and the fact that he is not long for this world caused him to repent of his misdeeds and make a clean breast of the whole business. He says that he was hired by Herman Haas in 1883 to set his store on fire, for which he was to receive $500, and if the full amount of the insurance was recovered was to get $1,000 more. Haas and S. Schloss were interested in the store together. Haas had been previously arrested for attempt at arson, but was acquitted. This fire destroyed nearly the whole of the business portion of the town. The last time Ethridge fired the town only the dwelling house of Haas was destroyed, and that worthy, seeing that he was suspected, decamped. His whereabouts are at present unknown but, no doubt, efforts will be made by the insurance companies to hunt him down and bring him to justice.

GEO. L. LORD, business manager for Peck's "Sun," published in Milwaukee, has sent us a proposition to advertise that journal. Peck is the funny man of American journalism and most everybody has read his "Bad Boy Papers." His business manager asks the INDEX-TRIBUNE to advertise the "Sun" to the extent of ten dollars worth for one year's subscription to the paper. Peck in addition to having an exhaustless fund of wit in his make-up seems also to possess considerable cheek, else why ask a brother of the quill to give him $10 worth of advertising for a $2 newspaper. Ah, Peck, my boy, we appreciate your jokes and can even laugh at them, but when it comes down to accepting your one-sided advertising proposition we will have to decline, even if you have the "Lord" on your side.

MERCED had another incendiary fire on last Wednesday morning. Loss, $30,000; insurance, $20,000. This is the third fire that has occurred in that town the past summer. Almost an entire block of buildings were destroyed by each fire.

A DASTARDLY DEED.

One of the most cowardly deeds that ever took place in a civilized community was the murder of Dr. Powers, in Bear Valley, San Benito county, last week, by a number of his neighbors, with whom he was very unpopular. It seems that the doctor was riding out one evening when he was set upon by a number of men, and after being shot was strung up to the limb of a tree for the purpose of giving out the impression that his assassination was the result of a popular uprising. There can be no doubt but that a few of the "leading citizens" of Bear Valley had a hand in this atrocious and cowardly business, but for all that these very same citizens should be ferreted out and made to suffer for their dastardly deed at the rope's end. There can be nothing more shocking than the act of these Bear Valley people. They banded themselves together and ambushing their unsuspecting victim took his life without giving him the least chance of defending himself. If this is not murder in its very worst aspect we do not know what it is. Should these diabolical assassins be not brought to justice, it will be a blot upon our State and an everlasting disgrace to the officials of San Benito county.

PREMIUMS were awarded to Sonoma County at the Mechanics' Fair as follows: Best display of preserved fruit in glass, Petaluma Fruit Packing Company; best display of California leaf tobacco, silver medal; second best display of fruits, by producer, third week of the Fair, $25; second best display of variety of apples, $19; second best display of table grapes, $25. J. H. Drummond of Glen Ellen secured the premium for best display and quality of wine grapes, diploma and $50.

WE are pleased to notice that the "San Francisco Chronicle" and other papers entertain the same views as those expressed editorially in the INDEX-TRIBUNE several weeks ago regarding the quail pest. When the enormous damage done by this voracious bird to vineyards in certain sections becomes generally known, every newspaper in the State will, no doubt, favor an amendment to the game law, allowing them to be exterminated in certain localities.

The Superior Court and Supervisor Houser.

Following is the full text of the order of the Superior Court made last week declaring the office of the Supervisor of the Fifth District vacant:

In the Superior Court, county of Sonoma, State of California:

In the matter of the application to declare vacant the office of Supervisor of the Fifth District of the county of Sonoma.

An order having been made by the Judge of the Superior Court of the county of Sonoma, State of California, on the 10th day of July, A. D. 1885, requiring S. R. Houser to furnish sufficient surety in the place of S. I. Allen, one of the surities on the bond of the said S. R. Houser as Supervisor from said District, a copy of which order was heretofore on the 10th day of July, A. D. 1885, served upon the said S. R. Houser, and it subsequently appearing to the Judges of said court that the said S. R. Houser failed for more than ten days from the date of the aforesaid order and from the date of the service of a copy thereof on the said S. R. Houser to furnish such sufficient surety and to record and file a supplemental bond with sufficient surety, as required by law and the order of said Judges, and an order to show why his office, as aforesaid, should not be declared vacant, having been served upon the said S. R. Houser, and the said S. R. Houser failing to appear at the time and place specified in said order to show cause, and it appearing to the said Judges that the said S. R. Houser has failed and neglected to furnish a supplemental bond and has failed and neglected to record and file the same as required by law within ten days from the date of the aforesaid order requiring such supplemental bond and sufficient surety to be given, and it further appearing that the withdrawal of the aforesaid S. I. Allen from the original bond of the said S. R. Houser reduced the bond of the said S. R. Houser below the amount required of him by law to be given as such Supervisor.

It is, therefore, ordered and decreed that the office of Supervisor of the Fifth Supervisor District of Sonoma County is, and the same is hereby declared to be vacant.

J. TEMPLE, Superior Judge.

Slippery Dick.

[Healdsburg Enterprise.]

On Monday morning last, while Marshal Clack was relating to Justice Emerson his experience of the night previous in arresting tramps, he happened to glance out of the window, and discovering an individual standing outside, suddenly exclaimed "that's the man," and going out soon returned with a hard-looking specimen of humanity. While the Judge was writing the complaint the prisoner seemed to be convulsed with laughter, and finally said: "Judge, please stop writing a moment while I tell you a good joke on the Marshal." He continued: "Last night they picked me up in the plaza and put me in the calaboose. I had no more than got inside before I discovered a hole in the floor, where the other inmates of the jail had escaped from. I lost no time, but descended and coming up on the outside climbed over a fence into a yard. Judge of my surprise and consternation when I found that I was in the Marshal's yard and he standing before me. After a tussel he put me back in the calaboose, and I went down again through the same hole in the floor, and here I am. Sure, the Marshal arrested me twice within fifteen minutes and didn't know it." The Judge gave Slippery Dick, who was well named, a sentence of $12 or six days. Upon being confined he broke two pairs of handcuffs in one day, but is now safely within the walls of the calaboose.

IT was decided by a majority of forty-two, at the election held last Wednesday in Fresno, to incorporate that town.

Misery is a mild word to describe the mischief to body and mind caused by habitual constipation. The regular use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills, in mild doses, will restore the torpid viscera to healthy activity. Try them and be cured.

The case of ex-Supervisor Houser came up before the Superior Court at Santa Rosa, on Tuesday, and after listening to argument of counsel, in regard to the demurrer entered by the defense, the court took the matter under advisement until Monday.

J. H. Drummond of Glen Ellen, has sent us photographs of his foreign imported vines consisting of twelve varieties—the St. Macaire, Chasselas Fontainbleau, Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon, Semillon, Petite Sirrah, Gros Mancin, Tannat, Gamai Teinturier, Pinot de Pernand, Alicante Bouschet and Franc Pinot. The vines were photographed in his vineyard while in full bearing and present a beautiful sight. The bunches are both large and thick and the vines have a healthy and vigorous look.

An Old Mens' Brass Band.

At a meeting held on the corner of Duhring's store, last Wednesday, it was resolved to form an old mens' brass band. The following officers were elected to serve during life or good behavior: F. Duhring, President; F. Breitenbach, Vice-President and D. D. Davisson, Secretary and Treasurer. The vice was instructed to draw up a code of by-laws for the guidance of the new old mens' society, and submit the same for approval at the next meeting.

The Treasurer received instructions to collect forthwith, from all music-loving citizens just contributions, that this highly proper, recommendable and amusing enterprise be put into execution, to fill a long felt want in the former Pueblo, now City of Sonoma. Also to apply to the Trustees of said Pueblo, now City of Sonoma, for the free use of the Pavilion on off-days, no meetings to be held and no music to be made during night time, that the peace and quiet of the good people be not disturbed.

It was further resolved that each member of the band furnish his own horn and be competent to toot it, and that no music-teacher need apply for an appointment to office.

The meeting then adjourned to the call of the President's horn.

The Rhine Farm.

On Tuesday last, while out driving, we stopped a short time at this noted farm, owned by Gundlach & Co. It is under the supervision of Wm. McElroy, than whom no more competent man for the position exists. We found him busily engaged in crushing grapes by the Hill hydraulic process, and the speed with which the grapes were put through the crusher was simply immense. On the place this season there has been eight thousand Chasselas grafted on Missoula stocks, and looking down on the young vineyard from the elevated ground on which stands the private residence and wine cellar it presented a beautiful and thrifty appearance. The vineyard, Rhine farm, was planted thirty years ago, and is one of the most extensive in the State. Connected with it in San Francisco, are six or eight immense cellars, which are supplied with wines and brandies from the cellar on the place. This place has been under the supervision of Mr. McElroy twenty-six years.

A Success.

The Fancy Jockey Cap Party, given by Prof. Marsden and his pupils at Union Hall, Thursday evening, was quite a success. There were present about forty-three couple. The music was excellent and everybody present, without a single exception, enjoyed themselves to their utmost. This was due, in a measure, to Mr. Thomas Glynn, who as floor manager showed remarkable aptitude for the position. Henry Raschen, mine host of the Union, sustained his well-earned reputation as a caterer and spread before those assembled a sumptuous repast. Before the grand march commenced the Sonoma Brass Band favored those present with several choice selections of music. Dancing was commenced at nine and was kept up till four o'clock in the morning, when all wended their way homeward, declaring that, so far as general enjoyment and a good time was concerned, the Fancy Jockey Cap Party was a success in every sense of the word.

PERSONAL.

Chess Ruffner is up from the city on a visit.

Charley Poppe, the genial storekeeper of Glen, dropped into our den one day this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Harris returned from their bridal trip last Thursday evening.

The friends of Mrs. James Ruffner will be pained to learn that she is quite seriously ill with congestion of the lungs and pleurisy.

The families of C. J. Poppe and Judge Small of Glen Ellen were visiting relatives and friends in Sonoma last Sunday.

The better-half of the editor of this paper, and our two daughters, left on Tuesday for a two-week's visit to relatives in Merced county. During their absence we will keep "bach hall," and run the household concern to suit ourself.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis started for Florence, Arizona, last Tuesday morning. They go there for the benefit of Mr. Lewis' health, which has been very poor of late. Should the climate of that section prove beneficial to him, Mr. and Mrs. L. will take up a permanent abiding place there. John has a host of friends in these parts who wish him a pleasant and safe journey and a speedy restoration to health.

Education in California.

Mrs. W. E. Chamberlain, wife of Profesor W. E. Chamberlain, principal of the celebrated Pacific Business College, San Francisco, Cal., writes that from personal experience she can heartily recommend Red Star Cough Cure to any one troubled with cough, cold or sore throat. It gave her relief at once.

PETALUMA AFFAIRS.

[Courier, Sept. 30th.]

The INDEX-TRIBUNE of Sonoma is calling loudly for a man who knows how to make and burn brick. T. T. Park of this city is just the man. He has recently made here some of the best brick ever seen in the county; at least they are pronounced so by the best authority.

Petaluma fishermen caught several fine salmon trout in Sonoma Creek, below the Embarcadero, yesterday, the largest weighing two pounds and a quarter.

The dwelling house of John C. Hanna, Washington street, East Petaluma, caught fire last Sunday afternoon from a defective stove pipe in the kitchen, and between fire, water and rapid removal of the furniture was damaged about $200.

Last Thursday night, about 10 o'clock, a fire was discovered in the rear of Ellsworth & Allen's furniture store and Burgtorff's saddlery and harness shop, on Main street. The rear part, where the fire originated, is of wood, and, with the combustible materials in it, made for a while a lively fire. The fire boys were soon on hand and stopped the blaze, but not, however, until the wooden part of the premises was about gutted. It is not known how the fire originated.

Sol. Gilmore lives on the road between the Washoe House and Santa Rosa. One afternoon last week his family was away from home, and he was doing some work in the barn. Some time during the afternoon his dogs barked furiously, and, on going to the door, he noticed a very lame man walking on a crutch along the road and evidently trying to attract some person about the house. Mr. Gilmore, the only person about the place, kept quiet and watched for developments. The tramp, after being disgusted with his attempts to get by the dogs or attract the attention of some person inside the closure, deliberately shouldered his crutch and walked as rapidly up the road as any sound, healthy man could have done. He was a regular but disgruntled tramp.

HEALDSBURG ITEMS.

[Enterprise, Sept. 26th.]

On Sunday last, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Z. Cunningham, occurred the wedding of their only daughter, Miss Minnie J. Cunningham and Charles A. Duncan.

While J. Sullivan was opening a bottle of soda, last Monday, it bursted and a piece of the flying glass cut the main artery of his left arm. After much loss of blood the flow was stopped by Dr. Stone, and Mr. Sullivan is now doing well.

Yesterday morning Dr. Stone received telegraphic information of a judgment in the Superior Court, at Santa Rosa, in his favor for $100 and costs. This is the case where the doctor sued the county for a suitable physician's fee in the case of Jos. Blazier, upon whose body he executed a post-mortem examination.

A serious and painful accident occurred at the residence of Mrs. P. J. Phillips yesterday. Little Frank Howard, son of C. B. Howard of Clay, Sacramento County, whose family were visiting with Mrs. Phillips, was playing with a saw frame, when two fingers were caught and so badly mangled as to require amputation. Dr. Stone was called and performed the operation.

A. W. Everets was out driving last Sunday afternoon, accompanied by his wife and three children, in a light spring wagon, when the horse shied at an old tin roof which had been placed in the front of E. H. Hall's machine shop, on the Dry creek road, completely upsetting the vehicle, throwing the occupants some distance and making a complete wreck. But fortunately the family escaped with only a severe shaking up and some slight bruises.

A sad and heart-rending scene occurred last evening. A certain curly-haired youth drove up to the door of his "company," for the purpose of taking her to a dance at the old mill. Judge of his surprise and extreme agony when he discovered the whole family issuing forth to accompany him. As he drove away, his features, peering forth from a wagon load of father, mother, sister and brother, resembled an ancient boiled lobster on a rampage.

GLEN ELLEN NOTES.

The weather has been very warm of late.

Chas. Poppe has made some decided improvements on his sidewalk.

Quail shooting will soon be in order.

A few electric lights are again spoken of here.

A new store is being built on Ding Dong street. Mr. Bowman of San Francisco will conduct the same.

Wine-making is in full blast, and everybody is busy. Grapes are of excellent quality, but the crop is not as large as that of last year. Prices range from $18 to $25 per ton.

A social dance was given by Mr. Geo. Spencer last Friday evening at the residence of Mr. Wm. Brunning. Not many were present, but a good time was had by all.

Mrs. Thiekoff had the misfortune one day last week to lose one of her most valuable cows. She was found dead in the bed of the creek below Mr. Hill's place. The cause of her death is unknown. OLD TIMER.

GLEN ELLEN, Sept. 29th.

SANTA ROSA NEWS.

[Daily Democrat.]

Ground squirrels are increasing to an alarming extent in this township. Hitherto we have been comparatively free from them. Old inhabitants claim that they can be numbered by the hundred now, where heretofore they could be counted by twos and threes.

Mrs. Lizzie Woods was arrested on Friday, on complaint of Chas. Hoffman, for assault upon the wife and children of Mr. Hoffman. She was brought before Justice Brown, plead not guilty, and Mr. Woods, depositing $40 for the appearance of his wife, the trial was set for Monday, September 28th.

Mark Cookran is having a well bored on his place which adjoins the Santa Rosa Cemetery on the east. The well is now 100 feet deep, and there is water in it to the depth of twenty-four feet. This settles the doubt which has so long existed as to whether water in sufficient quantity at a reasonable depth could be obtained in these hills.

T. Regin was arrested Thursday night for being drunk and disorderly, taken before Justice Hoag Friday morning, pleaded not guilty, demanded a jury trial, but finally withdrew his plea of not guilty and was fined $10 or the alternative of five days in the jail, and given twenty days in which to pay the fine and let go on his own recognizance.

On the hop ranch of Grosse & Graham there are now over 100 hands employed picking hops, most of whom are Chinamen. The price which they receive is about 75 cents per 100 pounds, and they pick from 90 to 150 pounds per day. Mr. Grosse says he will finish in about ten days. The crop of this firm is not as heavy by one-third as it was last year.

On Thursday evening, about 9 o'clock, Officers Mock, Raney and Lowery, made a general but unsuccessful raid upon the opium dens of Santa Rosa, although in several places there was evidence of the "joints" just having been vacated. At one place a frightened Celestial stowed himself away among a box of rubbish in a dark corner of the room.

The County Board of Education had a special meeting Saturday, to examine into the case of C. M. Watson, teacher of the Mountain View school, charged by A. Hall with immoral conduct. The complaint charges that Mr. Watson promised a prize of $5 to the best scholar at the close of the term, which promise complainant claimed had not been fulfilled. But from the evidence introduced by the prosecution, it appeared that Mr. Watson had promised to give five dollars or its value, which promise had been fulfilled. The testimony given was conflicting and indefinate, and the accused was honorably acquitted.

The case of Healdsburg College vs. T. C. Bishop occupied the attention of Judge Temple on Thursday, and was taken under advisement until Monday, October 24th. As near as learned, it seems that several months ago the Healdsburg College bought some wood from Messrs. Montgomery and Truitt, which had previously been sold at Constable's sale to Mr. Al. Metzger. Mr. Montgomery, owner of the land upon which the wood sold by Messrs. Montgomery and Truitt to the Healdsburg College, also got out an attachment which was put upon the wood by Sheriff Bishop after the wood had been sold at Constable's sale to Mr. Metzger. The Healdsburg College brings suit against Sheriff Bishop that the ownership may be determined.

A Beautiful Work of Art.

There is on exhibition at the Union Hotel, in this place, a landscape oil-painting of a scene on the Hudson river. It is the work of Miss Mattie Goodman, a Sonoma girl, and proves her to be an artist of real merit. The picture, handsomely framed, was presented by Miss Goodman to Valley of the Moon Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

A Relic of By-Gone Days.

[Lakeport Bee-Democrat, Sept. 19th.]

A. J. Everett has laid on our table a rusty grape-shot, a little over three inches in circumference and weighing 2½ ounces, that he picked up in his field one day. It is evidently an old-timer, and of course somewhat raised our friend Everett's curiosity to know how it came to be in his field, and he accordingly sought his information from the Indians in the valley. He interviewed old Charley, who said when he was quite a boy a party of soldiers came into the valley in search of the Indians. They had two cannon, which they stationed on the banks of Scott's creek, near where Mr. Everett's house now stands. They had not seen any Indians, but they knew or suspected they were camped in a thicket of willows near the spot where Churchill's house now stands. Charley says the soldiers fired twice into this thicket. The Indians were there, and the report of the cannon and the grape shot falling around them like hail was the first intimation they had of the presence of the soldiers. He says they were much frightened and got out of there pretty quick, so when the second shot was fired all the Indians had vamoosed. But now Charley rather turns the table on the soldiers, for he says there was only one gun in the Indian camp—the one that had been taken from Kelsey and Stone at the time of their murder, a short time previous. This an Indian took and slipping around to one side, fired at the soldiers, and thinks he hit one in the wrist. The soldiers evidently thinking that there were a lot of Spaniards with the Indians made a hasty retreat, taking their guns but leaving a bucketful of grape shot on the ground. If this incident, as related by Charley, is a fact, it is strange that it has never been mentioned by some of the whites who know all about the war with the Indians in this county.

CLOVERDALE HAPPENINGS.

[Pacific Sentinel, Sept. 26th.]

Most of the wineries in this vicinity are now crushing Mission grapes.

Work on the new water works is being pushed as rapidly as possible.

Six fine deer were shipped by express from here yesterday to San Francisco.

The town was "chuck full" of Chinamen last Sunday, who arrived from the hop fields above here and went to San Francisco Monday.

Frank Swett of Santa Rosa, Deputy U. S. Revenue Collector for this district, was in town yesterday, and made us a pleasant call. He has been up in Mendocino County on an official trip, and reports considerable "crookedness" being carried on in that section.

Bears are reported to be quite numerous in the hills west of and within a few miles of town, driven out of the redwoods on the coast by forest fires. John Ferry, we hear, is having sheep killed by them every day. Here is a good chance for some of our town nimrods to go on a "bar" hunt.

No use talking on the subject at all, Cloverdale has the boss girls of the State. Last Thursday Miss Mary Purcell, who lives at Wallace Graham's place on Livermore Flat, Sulphur Creek, took her little rifle and went on a hunt. About three-quarters of a mile from the house she discovered a deer, immediately fired two shots and killed it. She then carried it to the house. This was quite a feat, considering that the young lady weighs only ninety pounds and the deer turned the scales at forty.

THE OLD MAN DREAMS.

[O. W. HOLMES.]

O for an hour of youthful joy!
Give back my twentieth spring?
I'd rather laugh a bright-haired boy
Than reign a graybeard king.

Off with the spoils of wrinkled age!
Away with learning's crown!
Tear out life's wisdom-written page,
And dash its trophies down.

One moment let my life blood stream
From boyhood's fount of flame;
Give me one giddy reeling dream
Of life, all love and fame.

My listening angel heard the prayer
And calmly smiling, said,
If I but touch thy silvered hair
Thy hasty wish has sped.

"But is there nothing in thy task
To bid thee fondly stay,
While the swift seasons hurry back
To find the wished-for day?"

"Ah, truest soul of woman kind,
Without thee what were life?
One bliss I cannot leave behind;
I'll take—my precious—wife!"

—The angel took a sapphire pen
And wrote in rainbow dew;
"The man would be a boy again,
And be a husband too."

"And is there nothing yet unsaid
Before the change appears?
Remember all their gifts have fled
With those dissolving years."

"Why, yes," for memory would recall
My fond parental joys;
"I could not bear to leave them all—
I'll take my girls and boys."

The smiling angel dropped his pen,
"Why, this will never do;
The man would be a boy again
And be a father too."

And so I laughed, my laughter woke
The household with its noise,
And wrote my dream when morning broke
To please the gray-haired boys.

HER FIRST LOVE.

Dr. Bryant's Unmarked Grave at La Porte.

[Chico Chronicle.]

"What's the news to-day, Jim?" asked a "Chronicle" scribe of the veteran stage-driver, Jim Finnieum, yesterday, who was found engaged reading a newspaper on the Union Hotel piazza.

"Oh, nothing startling," was the reply. "But I was just reading a little piece of information from the Plumas "National." Let me read it to you:

'A ramble through the graveyard at La Porte proves that though Mrs. Mackey remembered General Grant, and mourned his death, she has forgotten the man to whom she first plighted her troth, for Dr. Bryant's grave is yet unmarked by monument, or even a slab.'

"I guess that's all right," continued the stage-driver. "It might not look very well for a woman to use the money of her present husband to ornament the grave of her first one. But her daughter Eva should have shown a little respect for her father, for a better man than he never drew the breath of life.

"Early in the spring of '66 I was driving stage between Oroville and La Porte, the latter place then being a very lively mining camp. One day I carried Dr. Bryant and his wife and their daughter Eva, then a little bit of a maiden, from Oroville to La Porte, driving an eight-passenger 'mud-wagon.' The Doctor and I formed a very warm friendship. He built up a fine practice at La Porte, was highly respected by all the people, and just coined money. But he was one of those free-and-easy, generous-hearted men, and he got rid of his money faster than he made it, never dreaming that it might be needed in the future.

"Finally he became sick and was confined to his bed for several weeks, before death claimed him. During this time the family was kept up by the neighbors, and the day of the funeral the miners took up a collection amounting to five hundred dollars. The expenses of burying Dr. Bryant were paid out of this amount, and the rest given to his widow. It was scarcely turned over to her when it fell into the hands of her father, an old man named Hungerfelt, who soon got rid of all of it at the saloons. The miners, of course, were highly incensed at the old man, and he left the diggings. Mrs. Mackey was a lady greatly beloved by all who knew her. Since her marriage to the millionaire she has spent big sums of money in helping the poor of Paris, but I do believe that it would have been more appreciated had she donated it to the needy of her own country, especially in the neighborhood where she tasted poverty's bitter cup.

COWBOYS SURPRISED.

An Ineffectual Attempt to Bully a Drummer.

"I have seen a good many daring deeds performed and coarse jokes perpetrated by cowboys," said the agent," but I will tell you of a little incident where the wind was taken out of three cowboys by a determined, fearless "tenderfoot." It happened only last spring. I was the station agent for the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, at a place near the Montana line. It was not much of a place, as it consisted only of a depot, a house or two and a saloon.

One morning a travelling man arrived at the depot by stage from up north somewhere. He had a small sample case and satchel. He was below medium height and rather slight, but was very neatly dressed and wore a silk hat. He was travelling for a New York jewelry house. He was about an hour early for the train East, and he opened his satchel on the platform, took out a brush and dusted his clothes and shoes. He then drew out an old newspaper, leaned up against the side of the depot with one foot projected in front of the other, and began reading.

"Meanwhile, however, three cowboys had sauntered up to the depot. They all eyed him closely and watched his operations. When he began reading, they huddled together and talked awhile in an undertone. Presently one of them—a big six-footer—left the group and began to saunter carelessly about the platform, with his head in the air, inspecting the posters on the building and the cornice. When he got round where the travelling man stood, he lifted his big brogan and planted it firmly on the jewelry man's foot. No apology was made. The travelling man merely looked up, drew his foot back a moment, then placed it back where it was. The cowboy passed back to the other two. Then all chuckled and joined in a low-toned conversation.

"Soon the cowboy started out again on a similar round, gaping at the roof. When he reached the travelling man he tried to bring his coarse boot on the extended foot. The travelling man jerked his foot back suddenly, and the brogan came down with a thump on the platform. Another conference and chuckle followed. Finally the cowboy set out on the third round. Just as he was about to raise his foot to plant it on that of the travelling man, the latter looked up quickly and said;

"'See here, there is my foot and it's going to stay there. You step on it, if you want to, but I want to tell you that before you can get off of it I will kill you.'

"Such a volley staggered the cowboy. He looked at the foot and then at the small possessor and finally moved off without stepping on it. Another conversation followed.

"The travelling man calmly read his paper a few minutes and then took from his satchel three apples. He looked at them a moment, and suddenly threw them a few feet in the air and then quickly drew a revolver, fired three shots, splitting each apple into a dozen pieces before they reached the ground. He replaced the cartridges in the empty chambers of the revolver and returned it to his pocket.

"The cowboys witnessed the act without saying a word and soon, completely cowed, turned and left the depot. The travelling man told me after they left that he would have killed the three of them had the fellow stepped on his foot again, and I think he would as he was quick as lightning. He then showed me a medal he carried, which he won as being the most rapid and best shot in New York. The story simply illustrates that there is sometimes a great deal of fictitious valor and daring about the cowboys."

"Oh, say ma!" exclaimed a bright little girl at the Hoffman House, while at dinner, "hasn't that man over there got awful big ears?"

"Hush, child; the gentleman might hear you," cautioned the mother.

"Well, ma," returned the precocious youngster, "if he couldn't hear me with those ears he ought to haul them down.—New York Journal.

WON'T BLISTER.—Caloric Vita Oil takes the place of all pain killing lotions or liniments, poultices or blisters, and while its penetrating, heating, healing and vital action is tenfold more powerful than either, it will not chafe or blister.

Dr. J. Winchester, Columbia, Cal., says: "Have used Vita Oil with the most beneficial results; can endorse without hesitation your claim. As a family remedy for the relief of pain it has no equal in the world. In our household it has become indispensable."

"With a thankful heart I acknowledge the great merit of Dr. Smith's Caloric Vita Oil. I had suffered over 30 years with bronchitis and was seriously threatened with lung disease. I had tried all remedies and all climates with occasional temporary relief, but no cure. The use of two small bottles made me a sound man.

"A BANK OFFICER."

A prominent druggist in San Francisco:—"We hazard nothing in saying it is the best pain curer and healing remedy ever used or known. It acts quickly, promptly and certainly in relieving pain. Hundreds of sufferers have been relieved by it, to the wonder of thousands of their friends. Its sales have doubled nearly every month."

"It will do the heaviest work of any medicine I ever handled, and quick, too."

In the inquiry—Which is the best Liniment for Man and Beast?—this is the answer, attested by two generations: the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. The reason is simple. It penetrates every sore, wound, or lameness, to the very bone, and drives out all inflammatory and morbid matter. It "goes to the root" of the trouble, and never fails to cure in double quick time.
